

CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

This section consists of conclusion and suggestion of the research. Conclusion is the first section which conclude the data display and discussion related to the problems of the study. Meanwhile, suggestion is the second section which presents ideas or opinions to other researchers in the same study as a purpose to be developed as a linguistic study.

A. Conclusion

Based on the data display and discussion both in Chapter II and Chapter III the conclusion can be drawn related to the problems of the study: figurative language in BlacKkKlansman movie script and the usage of figurative language in BlacKkKlansman movie script. Conclusions are presented in the following points.

1. Moreover, the researcher found 19 data of metonymy as the highest used of figurative language in the BlacKkKlansman movie script. Here metonymy is used by the characters to convey reality. It is used mostly by the White characters because it is consist of racism context. Metonymies are often used in literature and in everyday conversation, which is why in this biopic type of movie script the reality is the focus of the story. It can be seen that through metonymy, the script writer is trying to use the past to show people that what happened to the world now is happened since the past. The badly sensitive society, which everything feels not in the right place, where people have to argue and fight for small things which can actually be done easily and briefly. Moreover, from analyzing the data where metonymy became the highest figurative language found in the movie script, the researcher can conclude that people can easily find metonymy in the documentary movie script since they are talking about a true story and metonymy has a close association and has been culturally acknowledge and agreed by people.

2. To bring an additional imagery is the most dominant figurative language functions found in the BlacKkKlansman movie script with 19 data. The figurative language, such as, metaphor, simile, metonymy, and symbol are most dominant figurative language where those can create imagery to the readers mind and give readers a depiction from an abstract thing through comparison in the statement stated by the characters.

All the types and functions found in the BlacKkKlansman movie script are indicated how White people labeling inferior race especially Black. White people tend to give inferior people a negative connotations label. Instead of labeling them because of their behaviour, White people labeled inferior race because of something they did not even do. It leads to racism, a falsely accused, and defamation of a race.

B. Suggestion

There are some points that can be suggested to other parties according to conclusion section above. It is suggested to other researcher to do further research starting from the conclusion that metonymy is the most used, then it will be worthier to discuss why metonymy existed a lot by social issues of Black and White in American History.
